The Vision of One Ocean Expeditions

One Ocean Expeditions commitment to ocean and environmental health is a core mission at the heart of all OOE programming. Through unique and authentic experiences and itineraries, One Ocean Expeditions enables world-class scientific research by aligning itinerary development onboard the vessels, creating opportunities for science in remote, inaccessible parts of the world.

Partnering with and supporting carefully selected scientific organizations, One Ocean Expeditions offers guests a unique opportunity to learn from and interact with scientists onboard. Long-time partners include Ocean Wise, who spearhead research and global awareness of micro-plastics and marine debris, the California Ocean Alliance (COA) who are committed to the research and study of cetacean behaviour and migratory patterns of the Southern Ocean, as well as Oceanites, the global leader in penguin population surveys. These key partnerships create incredible access for One Ocean Expeditions' guests to build first hand awareness and education on key issues of marine conservation. Working with existing science partners and forging new relationships along the way, One Ocean Expeditions will continue to pursue its vision of understanding and preserving ocean health for generations to come. There is only One Ocean; we need to protect it.
